Chinese Sugar Cane.

We are indebted to our neighbor, Mr. Ebenezer Hill, for a liberal sample of Chinese Sugar Cane Syrup, which is of very fine quality—equal, we think, to good maple syrup.
We esteem it our duty to afford every information in our power concerning the Chinese Sugar Cane, or Sorgho Sacre, believing that it is destined to assume an important rank among the crops of the South. So far, it has met the expectations of our most sanguine friends. As it becomes more generally known, and new experiments are instituted upon it, we predict that it will meet with more extended favor. Its good qualities may be enumerated as follows:—

1. Its cultivation is no more troublesome than of corn.
2. It grows to full height, and will perfect its seeds throughout the entire season.
3. It is a very profitable forage crop, giving two yields—one in July, the other in October—of a green fodder superior to sweet corn.
4. It yields 20 bushels of seed per acre, which make a fine meal, and the hulls of which afford a good dye stuff.
5. It, besides the seed, gives one thousand or more pounds of excellent sugar per acre, and at the same time fifty-five gallons of molasses or syrup.
6. It gives, on distillation, about 300 gallons of alcohol.
7. The crushed stalks may be fed to cattle, which are very fond of it.
8. It is used to make syrup only, it has yielded at the rate of 468 gallons per acre.
9. The molasses may be distilled into tafia, rum, brandy, and a beverage similar to cider.
10. It makes vinegar of a superior quality.

Pictures.

Attention is invited to the card of Mr. S. Jones in another column. He is prepared to take superior Pictures, in the highest style of the art.

A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—The Montgomery Messenger has been shown a counterfeit purporting to be a five dollar bill of the Bank of Georgetown, South Carolina. The counterfeit has a figure of liberty on the right hand side, which is not in the genuine; on the left hand side of the counterfeit is an eagle—on the good bill a female head. The counterfeit can readily be detected, as all good five dollar bills of the Bank of Georgetown have a red check back. The color of the printing is rather pale, when compared with the genuine. The engraver's imprint on the good bill is "Rawdon, Wright, Hatch and Edson, New York," while on the counterfeit it is "Tappan, Carter and Co., N. Y." This counterfeit is dangerous, as it is a new issue from the dens, and one which has not yet been exposed by any of the published detectors.

A paper in Canada publishes births and deaths in "New Arrivals."

The Grasshopper Plague.

The Minnesota correspondent of the Evening Post expresses the opinion that the grasshopper, which lately devastated Minnesota, will probably visit the East and South. He says: "They came like a mighty army last August, a year ago, from the West, flying in such multitudes as to darken the sun in some instances. Lighting down, they devoured two-thirds of all the crops—deposited their eggs, and last spring hatched in such multitudes as to require all the garden vegetables and crops of every kind to mature them for their Eastern flight in July. The corn springing up a little after being eaten down to the ground, will afford a little for use, and late planted potatoes will amount to something. A good supply of hay is left in the meadows of latest growth. The insect is now gone—East and South.

"Nothing but the interposition of Divine Providence will prevent the annual devastation of these insects in every State east of this to the Atlantic coast, which they may not reach under three years; it having been about that time since they left Utah and the Upper Minnesota Valley. Already, I hear, one wing of the great army has reached Wisconsin the right wing having reached Iowa, and the central column the edge of Illinois. The section of country where they have been so destructive in Minnesota for two years, is narrow—a strip on each side of the Mississippi above Saint Anthony's Fall. The eastern and southern section of Minnesota escaped until since their flight East and South.

"SAM" DEAD, AND HIS ESTATE INSOLVENT.—The Circuit Court of Campbell county, Kentucky, was lately the scene of a suit brought by Shipley & Brothers, Cincinnati, against Smalley & Caldwell, agents for "The Grand Know Nothing State Council of Kentucky," for the value of certain seals purchased of the plaintiffs for the use of "Grand Council." Various defenses were set up, but in spite of all, the Jury awarded plaintiffs a verdict for $392 50. "The Grand Know Nothing State Council of Kentucky" must be in a bad case to allow their agents to suffer for such a debt.

Marrying in haste, it appears, was not unfrequent in the olden time, nor were ill assorted marriages.—Here are two instances clipped from a newspaper published at the latter part of the last century: "In Marlborough county Maryland, Mr. James Banton, aged 65, to Miss Martha Smith, aged 12." The same paper announces the marriages of one Captain McLane to a Miss Hutchins, "after a courtship of nine hours!"

A man in Cincinnati named Shrem, who has a black wife, found her to be a little too intimate with a colored barber. The barber leaped out of the window, leaving a new suit of clothes behind. Shrem appropriated the clothes, for which the barber had him arrested and lodged in a station-house.

A negro named Solomon Northrup, a fugitive slave from New Orleans, was about to lecture at the town hall, in Streetville, Canada, last week, on the subject of slavery in the United States, but the audience would not allow him to proceed, and became so excited that he was forced to leave the hall under an escort of friends.

A horse becoming frightened at the noise of a train on the Boston and Worcester railroad a few days since, ran off, and although the train was going at the rate of twenty miles an hour, kept up with it for a distance of three miles!

John Mitchell, of Burlington, N. J., has 25 acres of strawberries. During the height of the strawberry season, it is said he delivered in Philadelphia, every morning, seventy-five bushels!

Hurley's Sarsaparilla
Maintains the secretions, especially those of the skin and kidneys, increasing nutrition, and always morbid irritability of the nervous and circulatory systems. Hence an admirable remedy for debility during, or after a mercurial course, and for the multifarious variety of symptoms which arise, when the health is broken down, as well by the disease as by its remedy. For Scrofula, it is the most certain means.—EQUIP.

APPLES.—Sales have been made in Marietta, Ohio, of entire orchards at $1.25 to $1.40 per barrel, delivered on the banks of Ohio. This is about 50 cents per bushel—quite a reduction from last year's prices.

A SAD MISTAKE.—The Glasgow Chronicle mentions a report that a man who was six years ago hung in that city for murder, has turned out not to have been guilty.

The lightning played some curious freaks in a neighboring town, the other day.

It struck the stove pipe which protruded through the roof of one house, passed into the stove, which was broken to pieces, and a man who was standing by it had his hat whisked from his head and torn to atoms, and escaped entirely uninjured! In two other houses, a still more astonishing occurrence took place. Two other men standing each in his own house, were struck at the same instant, and in precisely the same manner! The lightning appeared to envelope each of them, passed down through their clothes into their boots, which it cut nearly off, without at all injuring them!

Hoo Cholera.—We regret to learn that the hog cholera has made its appearance in this county. A gentleman residing a few miles from the city, informs us that he has lost about thirty head, and that several of his neighbors have lost a large number. Our informant says he has been unable to check the disease with any remedy he has yet tried.—Nashville Union and American.

The Markets—Latest Dates

Nashville, Tenn.—We have to record another dull week in commercial markets. Nevertheless the prospect is fair for an early revival and a prosperous fall trade.

Cotton—There has been no cotton in market for some months past, and the trade promises to be quiet. A large quantity of the cotton growing region encourage us in the belief that the crop will be considerably larger than that of last season. The recent fine weather has been maturing it rapidly, and from quarters where, a short time ago, all was gloom, we hear cheering reports from the cotton fields. The crop is in fine condition, and with a continuation of seasonable weather, the yield will be large.

Tobacco—The tobacco crop, our advisers are, in a flourishing state at present, and, in view of the weather, it is not unlikely that it will exceed the expectations of the planter. Wheat—The wheat market during the week has exhibited little animation. Prices have reached a point so far below the expectations of the farmers, that few are inclined to sell, preferring to risk the chances of holding back. We quote red at 70¢ per bushel; and white 80¢ per bushel. Mediterranean will not sell for more than 60¢ per bushel. We hear of a lot of inferior selling yesterday at 50¢.

Flour—No change in price, which are for fine 4 50¢ per bushel; superfine 5 50¢; extra 6 50¢. The market is well supplied. The sales are light, and a good deal is being shipped.

Bacon—Is scarce and in demand. A slight improvement since our last has taken place. We now quote hams at 14¢ per lb; sides 14 1/2¢ per lb.

Meal—In demand at 10¢ per bushel. Groceries—We hear of no change in prices are steady.
